

FLOW CHART FOR THE “FOUL”AND “MISS” RULES

“Foul & a Miss” will not be called when only the Black remains (Any foul on the Black ends the frame)

The non-offender alone makes any decision about replaying a stroke from the original position after a “Foul & a Miss” is called.

Upon doing so all disturbed object balls, including any pocketed balls and the cue ball, will be returned to their original position, or as near as possible, to the satisfaction of the referee.

After replacement of a ball or balls following a “Foul & a Miss” call, the players will be consulted to determine ball positions. Advice may also be taken from the marker or spectators or from any recording device that may have been used prior to the stroke. The referees decision will be final.

If a player touches a ball during any consultation he shall be penalised as if he were the striker, with the penalty being 7 points. Any disturbed ball will be repositioned by the referee and the order of play will not be affected.
